

--The solid supports on which biological molecules are generally deposited are glass, silicon, polyacrylamide gel, polymer supports (see U.S. Patent 5,919,523) or plastic (microwell plates). They may be nylon membranes.--